ODF++ tag fades as city battles public toilet crisis

Hyderabad: Despite achieving Open Defecation Free Plus Plus (ODF++) status from the Centre in 2019, Hyderabad is grappling with growing sanitation-related inconvenience across several public spaces, with residents complaining of persistent urine stench near under-bridges, public walls, gardens and transit only around 1,383 are currently functional, according to recent reports. Many toilets are damaged, vandalised or poorly maintained, forcing people to urinate in nearby open spaces.

B Tech student Saraswati said, "I cover my nose every time I cross this place. It has become a habit now." Online discussions on local forums and social media platforms echo similar complaints across multiple neighbourhoods, suggesting the issue is widespread rather than limited to isolated spots. Netizens warn that the city may soon become unliveable due to heavy traffic, pollution and alleged GHMC mismanagement.

Madhan Singh, a caretaker of a public toilet in Secunderabad, cited maintenance delays as a major concern. He said he has complained multiple times to GHMC regarding repairs and upkeep.

"Sometimes they delay, sometimes no one comes," he said, adding that the problem worsens during the monsoon when stagnant water intensifies the stench.

According to him, people of all ages and genders urinate in public spaces, often avoiding pay-and-use toilets due to hygiene concerns or reluctance to spend even a small fee. Attempts to contact GHMC regarding the issue did not elicit any response.

Areas such as Punjagutta, the surroundings of NTR Gardens, Secunderabad under-bridge stretches, and locations near Metro stations including Paradise, Ameerpet and Raidurgam have been repeatedly flagged by commuters and residents.

Though the city has over 1,850 public toilets,

Breaking barriers not pay gaps: Telangana women's uneven march

Hyderabad: Women's participation in Telangana's workforce has recorded a steady rise in recent years, but this progress continues to be overshadowed by significant wage inequality, particularly in the informal sector, according to official data and ground-level interactions.

Hyderabad Events Calendar

Data from the Periodic Labour Force Survey (PLFS) 2023-24 shows a clear upward trend in female participation. The urban female labour force participation rate (LFPR) stands at around 50-51 per cent, while rural participation remains lower at 25-26 per cent.

Women's workforce participation rate (WPR) has nearly doubled over the years, rising from 22 per cent in 2017 to 40.3 per cent in 2024. The overall LFPR during the July 2023 to June 2024 period was recorded at nearly 60 per cent.

Despite this increase, wage disparities remain wide. Studies and sectoral data indicate that women in Hyderabad earn 30 to 40 per cent less than men on average. In sectors such as retail and manufacturing, the wage gap ranges between 15 and 17 per cent, while in the IT sector it varies from 10 to 17 per cent. The gap is relatively lower in healthcare and pharmaceuticals at around 10 per cent, but continues to persist. Agriculture records the highest wage disparity.

Data from TeamLease Digital and the NSSO suggests that women often earn only 60 to 70 per cent of male wages, largely due to overrepresentation in lower-level roles, limited leadership opportunities and mid-career dropouts driven by work-family pressures.

The situation is more severe in the informal sector. Women workers often earn between 20 and 60 per cent less than men despite performing similar work and putting in long hours. Many earn as little as Rs 5,000 a month, far below the state's minimum wage benchmark of Rs 12,000. Savita Devi, a garment factory worker from Nacharam Chilaka Nagar, said, "I come early every day and work till evening. There are around 3,000 women workers here. Men doing the same work earn about Rs 14,000, but women are paid only Rs 9,500. After factory work, we also have household responsibilities, but nothing changes." Echoing similar views, Arjun, a local factory worker, said, "Women operate the same machines and work as hard as men, but they are always paid less, even when they work long hours." Repeated attempts to contact officials from the Hyderabad Labour Department for a response on wage disparity and enforcement of minimum wage norms did not elicit any reply. While women's participation in Telangana's workforce is clearly increasing, the data and lived experiences point to a continuing gap between employment growth and equitable pay, raising questions over enforcement, accountability and workplace equality.

Harish Rao opposes move to scrap Siddipet dist

Hyderabad: BRS deputy leader T Harish Rao on Friday issued a stern warning to Chief Minister A Revanth Reddy against any move to abolish Siddipet district. Addressing a gathering, Rao urged the Chief Minister not to harbour a grudge against the people of the region due to political rivalry.

The BRS leader noted that the first Chief Minister of Telangana, K Chandrashekar Rao, had fulfilled a 40-year-old local aspiration by granting Siddipet district status. He alleged that Revanth Reddy is now conspiring to dismantle the district and merge it back with Sangareddy under the pretext of an excess of districts in the state. "If the district is removed, we will lose critical institutions like the Collectorate, the Medical College, and the Police Commissionerate," Harish Rao stated. He challenged the Chief Minister to target him personally rather than punishing the residents of the area. "If you have a grudge against me, target me directly, but do not punish the people of Siddipet. We will not stay silent. We will launch another agitation if the existence of our district is threatened," he added.

The remarks were made during a meeting held to mark the joining of Siddipet BJP Town President Pathri Srinivas and senior leader Hanumanth Rao, who moved to the BRS along with their followers.

He noted that funds have been allocated for the development of Sammakka-Sarakka, Ramappa temple, and Laknavaram tourism centres.
