Mahatma Jyotirao Phule Fought Lifelong for Social Justice: Minister Ponguleti Srinivasa Reddy Government Committed to the Upliftment of Backward Classes

Call for Collective Efforts to Realize Phule's Ideals

“Avnreddy Khammam Town Reporter April 11, (Indian Chronicle):” “State Revenue, Housing, and Information & Public Relations Minister Ponguleti Srinivasa Reddy stated that Mahatma Jyotirao Phule was a Great leader who dedicated his entire life to the cause of social justice. “On Saturday, the minister, along with District Collector Anudeep Durishetty, participated in the birth anniversary celebrations of Phule held at Sri Sri Circle in Khammam under the aegis of the Backward Classes Welfare Department. They paid floral tributes to Phule’s statue on the occasion. “Speaking at the event, the minister said it is a matter of great honor to remember Mahatma Jyotirao Phule on his birth anniversary. He noted that Phule played a pivotal role in building an egalitarian society and initiated social reforms at a time when caste and religious discrimination were deeply rooted. “He recalled that Phule first educated his wife, Savitribai Phule, and through her efforts, paved the way for girls’ education in India. He praised Phule as a Great reformer who challenged caste-based discrimination and worked tirelessly to bring social change. The minister stated that during those times, many communities were denied entry into temples and schools due to caste discrimination, and Phule courageously fought against such practices. He said that is why his birth anniversary is celebrated with great respect and enthusiasm. “He emphasized that the state government is committed to the welfare of backward classes and has been making sincere efforts toward their upliftment. He mentioned that after coming to power, the government has scientifically worked toward providing 42% reservation for BC communities and has been implementing several welfare schemes for their development. “District Collector Anudeep Durishetty said that Phule envisioned a society free from caste discrimination where everyone has access to education. He highlighted Phule’s immense contribution to women’s education even during that era. He added that the state government is implementing various initiatives such as Gurukul schools and Young India Integrated Schools to provide quality education to the underprivileged. On the occasion of Phule’s birth anniversary, he called upon everyone to remember his ideals and work collectively toward building a better society. “Several officials, public representatives, community leaders, cultural artists, and citizens attended the program.

Education alone can bridge social inequalities: Collector Chitra Mishra

Leaders highlight role in combating caste discrimination and promoting girls' education.

Khaja Sikander Mohiuddin Staff Reporter, Indian Chronicle Karimnagar, April 11: Emphasising the transformative power of education, District Collector Chitra Mishra on Saturday called upon people, particularly youth, to draw inspiration from Mahatma Jyotiba Phule and strive for social progress through learning.

Speaking at the birth anniversary celebrations of Phule held at Satavahana University, the Collector said that education remains the only path to gaining recognition and dignity in society. She noted that Phule, a pioneering social reformer, had realised the importance of education centuries ago and worked relentlessly for the upliftment of women and marginalised sections by establishing schools for girls and shelters for orphans.

Floral tributes were paid to Phule's statue by public representatives, including Choppadandi MLA Medipalli Satyam, Karimnagar MLA Gangula Kamalakar, and SUDA Chairman Komatireddy Narendra

Reddy, along with officials and leaders of various organisations.

Addressing the gathering, Mr. Satyam said that Phule had, more than two centuries ago, championed education as a solution to social inequalities and promoted girls' education at a time when it was widely neglected. He also recalled that Phule, regarded as one of the guiding influences of B. R. Ambedkar, fought against caste discrimination, untouchability and social evils.

Mr. Narendra Reddy highlighted that education empowers individuals with knowledge to resolve their own challenges, while recalling the role of Phule in educating his wife Savitribai Phule, who later became a pioneering teacher.

Mayor Srinivas and Deputy Mayor Sunil Rao underlined Phule's contribution to the upliftment of the oppressed and his efforts in breaking social barriers to ensure access to education for girls.

A book on the thoughts of Ambedkar and Phule was released on the occasion. Representatives of various community organisations and officials were present.

Samal Karthik Participates in Felicitation Ceremony for MP Vem Narender Reddy

“Serilingampalli April 11: It is well known that, following the vacancy of two

Rajya Sabha seats allocated to the state of Telangana, the Congress party high command selected Manusingh for one seat, while senior party leaders made intense efforts to secure the other. In this context—and after taking various key factors into consideration—the party selected Vem Narender Reddy, a close confidant of Telangana Chief Minister Revanth Reddy who currently serves as the Advisor to the People's Government. Upon his selection, Mr. Narender Reddy organized a felicitation meeting attended by key party leaders with whom he shares close ties. “Responding to the invitation extended by MP Vem Narender Reddy, TPCC Secretary Samal Karthik attended the event alongside Anil Kumar Yadav, a senior leader from the Serilingampally constituency. Speaking on the occasion, they reminisced about the administration of the late Chief Minister Dr. Y.S. Rajasekhara Reddy in the Telangana region during the past. “They stated that numerous development initiatives are currently being implemented for the benefit of the city's residents. As part of these efforts, they announced that work on the underground flyover bridge currently under construction at the IIIT Junction in the Serilingampally constituency would be expedited to ensure that no traffic-related inconveniences arise for the public. “They also strongly expressed their conviction that Vem Narender Reddy would play a pivotal role in the national capital, Delhi, and within the Upper House of Parliament, in furthering the development of the state.

The actions of HYDRAA authorities today in Ilapur Village are deeply shocking

The actions of HYDRAA authorities today in Ilapur Village are deeply shocking, unlawful, and unconstitutional. It is reported that nearly 1000 police personnel, along with HYDRAA officials, forcibly entered residential premises and threatened approximately 45 tenant families to vacate their flats within 30 minutes, without issuing any prior notice, without granting any opportunity of hearing, and without any lawful authority or court order. Such coercive action reflects a complete breakdown of the rule of law and demonstrates a blatant disregard for constitutional safeguards. “The Ilapur land issue is not a concluded matter but is still pending adjudication before the Hon'ble High Court in Writ Appeals, including W.A. Nos. 114 and 115 of 2013, along with connected proceedings, and therefore any unilateral action by executive authorities is impermissible in law. The High Court has already made it clear that revenue entries do not confer title and that the question of ownership must be decided by a competent civil court. Further, even in appellate proceedings, the Hon'ble Division Bench has observed that fraud, which is the sole basis for the Government's claim, has not been prima facie established. “Despite this clear legal position, authorities have repeatedly undertaken coercive measures. Earlier, more than 1000 houses belonging to poor and marginalized families were demolished overnight without notice or due process, leaving them homeless and destitute. The present action, where tenants are being forced to vacate within minutes, shows a continuation of the same illegal pattern, targeting vulnerable sections while ignoring influential encroachers and developers who have carried out large-scale constructions on the same land. “The conduct of the authorities raises serious and fundamental questions. If the land was indeed disputed for decades, how were layouts permitted, how were electricity and water connections sanctioned, and how were house numbers assigned by Government bodies? Why was no action taken when apartments, farmhouses, and commercial structures were constructed over the years? Why are only poor tenants and small occupants being targeted while influential persons remain untouched? These questions strike at the root of administrative accountability and expose a pattern of selective enforcement. “The present actions amount to a gross violation of Article 21 of the Constitution of India, which guarantees the right to life, shelter, and dignity, and also violate the principles of natural justice, which mandate notice and hearing before any adverse action is taken. The arbitrary and discriminatory nature of the action further violates Article 14 of the Constitution. The authorities cannot, under any circumstances, resort to forceful evictions in a matter that is sub judice and where rights are yet to be finally determined. “In these circumstances, there is an urgent and compelling need to immediately halt all eviction and coercive actions in Ilapur Village, to restore possession to the affected families, and to provide rehabilitation and compensation to those who have already suffered irreparable loss. It is also necessary to initiate legal action against the officials responsible for such unlawful acts and against those who have misled the public by illegally selling plots and facilitating constructions. A court-monitored or independent investigation is essential to uncover the full extent of irregularities and to ensure accountability. “The actions of HYDRAA represent a dangerous misuse of State power, where the weakest sections of society are being targeted while powerful interests are left untouched. Such conduct undermines the very foundations of constitutional governance and cannot be permitted to continue. “V. RAVIKRISHNA “Advocate “Ameenpur

Maruti Suzuki signs Memorandum of Agreement with Transport Department, Government of Andhra Pradesh, to automate 4 driving license test tracks, under its CSR initiative

Hyderabad Maruti Suzuki India Limited ("Maruti Suzuki") signed a Memorandum of Agreement ("MoA") with the Transport Department, Government of Andhra Pradesh, for set up and maintenance of 4 Automated Driving Test Tracks ("ADTTs") across the state under the Company's CSR initiative.

The ADTTs will be set up at four Regional Transport Office (RTO) locations in the state, namely Eluru, Ongole, Vizianagaram, and Anaparthi. Under the MoA, Maruti Suzuki will automate and maintain these driving test tracks for a period of 3 years from the date of commissioning.

The ADTTs will be equipped with high-definition cameras, RFID sensors, real-time analytics, and an integrated IT system to enable a technology-enabled, standardized, and objective driving license testing process. With zero human intervention, the ADTTs are aimed to make license testing more comprehensive, efficient, and transparent. The rigorous and standardized evaluation process is designed to assess candidates according to the Central Motor Vehicle Rules (CMVR). Test results are also automatically generated.

Speaking on the initiative, Mr. Hisashi Takeuchi, MD & CEO, Maruti

Suzuki India Limited said, "During my meeting with Hon'ble Chief Minister of Andhra Pradesh, Shri Chandrababu Naidu, I was impressed by his love for technology. Aligned with his vision for technology-led solutions, we are honoured to bring 4 Automated Driving Test Tracks (ADTTs) to the state of Andhra Pradesh. ADTTs use advanced technology that ensure a comprehensive, efficient, and transparent process with zero human intervention. This guarantees that only skilled drivers are awarded a driving license, thereby improving overall road safety."

Speaking at the MoA signing, Shri. Manish Kumar Sinha, IPS, Transport Commissioner of Andhra Pradesh said, "I commend Maruti Suzuki, India's leading passenger vehicle manufacturer, for its significant contribution to road safety through the launch of Automated Driving Test Tracks (ADTTs) across the state. In this project, Maruti Suzuki will extend support by providing technology in the areas of integration with the SARATHI system, training of personnel and routine maintenance for a period of 3 years. The Transport Department, on its part, will provide the required infrastructure at the existing driving tracks, undertake civil works, ensure security and electricity supply and conduct driving tests and issuance of driving licenses using the automated system."

Fear of AI Replacing Jobs, Online Scams and Mental Health Concerns Top Vijayawada's Worry List: Aditya Birla Sun Life Insurance's ?-Nishchit Index 2.0

Hyderabad India continues to experience elevated uncertainty due to financial pressures, healthcare concerns, work-life imbalance, and broader societal risks. With the national Index at 79, anxieties around financial preparedness, healthcare affordability, mental well-being, and long-term stability remain widespread.

Vijayawada, however, reports an Index of 63—significantly lower than national and regional benchmarks—indicating relatively higher perceived certainty among its residents. Yet several emerging risks and societal shifts continue to shape the city's underlying anxieties. Leading concerns include fear of being replaced by artificial intelligence at work, vulnerability to online scams, and the growing prevalence of mental health challenges.

Other prominent worries include religious conflicts affecting social cohesion, natural disasters disrupting daily life, inflation eroding savings, climate-related disruptions, and hesitation in seeking therapy due to personal or social barriers. Balancing personal interests with family time also emerges as a notable concern for residents.

A blend of uncontrollable and controllable factors drives Vijayawada's uncertainty. Uncontrollable risks include online fraud, data-security threats, environmental disruptions, and broader social tensions. Meanwhile, controllable stressors such as AI-related job insecurity, mental-health management, rising living costs, and work-life balance highlight areas where awareness, planning, and appropriate support mechanisms can meaningfully reduce anxiety.

City-level data shows that financial depth strongly influences perceived certainty. Uncertainty rises from 59 in SEC A to 66 in SEC C. Insurance ownership displays a non-linear pattern—uncertainty is lowest among residents with two policies (49), but spikes among those with three (94). A similar trend occurs across investment instruments, where uncertainty rises with greater diversification Across demographics, uncertainty levels remain similar between men and women. Gen X emerges as the most uncertain age group (69), compared to Baby Boomers (60), Millennials

(61), and Gen Z (63). Profession-wise and across life stages, uncertainty remains broadly uniform, suggesting that concern patterns are shared widely across the population.

Overall, Vijayawada's findings reflect a national pattern where technological disruption, financial pressures, social risks, and health-related challenges increasingly shape public sentiment. As lifestyle pressures and external risks intersect across life stages, planning ahead and securing appropriate protection remain critical to strengthening confidence and reducing uncertainty.
