KTR Calls for Holistic, Long-Term Solutions to India’s Urban Challenges

“New Delhi”20 Sept 2026“Indian Chronicle”“BRS Working President and former Telangana minister K.T. Rama Rao (KTR) highlighted urban-development initiatives undertaken during the previous BRS government in Telangana while participating in “Sheheron Pe Charcha” at the India Habitat Centre in New Delhi. “The session, organised by Janaagraha as part of Charcha 2026, was a cross-party dialogue focused on how Indian cities can be made more responsive to the needs of their residents. The discussion examined urban planning, governance, infrastructure, mobility and municipal finances. “Speaking during the discussion, KTR argued that governments should pursue holistic and long-term solutions to urban problems rather than relying on short-term responses to individual grievances. “He cited initiatives undertaken during the BRS government’s tenure in Telangana, including plans for super-specialty hospitals and medical colleges at district headquarters and the establishment of IT towers in Tier-II cities. He said such measures were intended to decentralise economic activity and reduce pressure on Hyderabad. “KTR also spoke about the importance of stronger public transport and regional connectivity. He said improved high-speed rail networks could help ease pressure on major urban centres by making travel between smaller cities and metropolitan areas faster and more practical. “Another issue raised during the discussion was access to capital for city governments. KTR said urban administrations require innovative and inclusive approaches to address the growing challenges faced by Indian cities. “The panel brought together legislators from different political parties and Janaagraha CEO Srikanth Viswanathan to discuss how governance, financing and planning could evolve as India’s urban population grows.

The farmers who feed us are in distress: 'A difficult Kharif season'

“Khammam Staffer (Praneeth Kumar Pathakamudi), September 20, Indian Chronicle. “(Special Story)“The current drought conditions are a reflection of the sentiment expressed in the song, 'Rain, O rain, O rain, please come at least once, O rain'. In ways that were never imaginable, the state of the rainy season has now become a question mark. Farmers are suffering because of drought conditions that are going astray without any regard for the seasons. Due to various wars, pollution, wildfires in forests like the Amazon, the melting of Arctic sea ice day by day, the shrinking of coastal areas, damage to the ozone layer, and the consequences of merciless human actions, we are witnessing the destruction of nature. We are putting an axe to the mystery of creation that should take place according to the seasons. Scientists and environmentalists are warning that if environmental balance continues to deteriorate in the same way in the near future, unforeseen consequences will occur. In the guise of development and under the pretext of

KANDI SHRAVAN KUMAR REDDY Attends Annadanam Programme as Chief Guest at Ravindra Nagar Colony

“HABSIGUDA, SEPTEMBER 20 (INDIAN CHRONICLE): An Annadanam programme was held in a grand manner on Sunday at the Ganesh mandapam set up by the members of the Ravindra Nagar Colony Welfare Association in Habsiguda Division. Habsiguda Division Congress Party President Kandi Shravan Kumar Reddy attended the programme as the chief guest. On the invitation of the committee members, Kandi Shravan Kumar Reddy attended the programme, where the organisers felicitated him by draping a shawl over him. He later offered prayers and performed special pujas to Lord Ganesha. Subsequently, he personally served food to the devotees during the Annadanam programme. A large number of devotees and local residents participated in the Annadanam. On the occasion, Kandi Shravan Kumar Reddy appreciated the organisers for conducting the Ganesh Navaratri celebrations with devotion and dedication. “Sai Baba Temple Secretary B. Sunil Kumar, Division Youth Congress President Vasu Naik, Suman Naik, Babu, Mallesh, Swamy, Ravi Kumar, Kalyan and others participated in the programme.

attended the programme as the chief guest. On the invitation of the committee members, Kandi Shravan Kumar Reddy attended the programme, where the organisers felicitated him by draping a shawl over him. He later offered prayers and performed special pujas to Lord Ganesha. Subsequently, he personally served food to the devotees during the Annadanam programme. A large number of devotees and local economic self-reliance, we are knowingly causing disruption to nature, which is like a mother. “? The natural seasonal cycle is going astray. “The periods of naturally occurring seasons are going astray. The conditions of the northeast and southwest monsoons are becoming questionable. The winds that spread from low pressure to high pressure and from high pressure to low pressure are becoming erratic. The drought cycle is turning upside down day by day. As a result, although farmers have been preparing for agriculture from the beginning of June, even the rain god is showing no mercy. Although humans are bringing these consequences upon themselves, humans alone are being left with the stain. Because of excessive selfishness, we are inviting unforeseen consequences and becoming an indelible stain on 'human' life. “? If there is no agriculture, there will be no support at all. “In agriculture-dependent countries like India, farming is becoming increasingly difficult. If the farmer who provides us with food faces hard times, there will be no one left to feed us. Although farmers are ready to work hard throughout the year, the farmer is struggling helplessly because circumstances and the environment are not cooperating. The farmers who make a living from agriculture are being left with stories of tears. Some farmers are selling the little land they have, leaving agriculture and setting out in search of alternative livelihoods. “? Prices are set to become even more premium due to the rain crisis. “? “In today's fast-paced world, drought conditions have a severe impact, especially on the agricultural sector. As a result, economic experts estimate that the prices of rice and other grains produced by farmers are likely to rise sharply. With supply failing to meet demand in the market, rice as well as essential commodities and other millets are set to become more expensive. Farmers are facing new kinds of losses in agriculture like never before and do not know what to do. Governments need to think with a big heart and provide farmers with strong support. It is the responsibility of governments as well as all people to give priority to agriculture-dependent regions, take stringent measures, and protect agricultural nature.

Lalitha Vinod attended the programme and congratulated the artistes for their impressive performances.

Cyberabad Police, SCSC Turn Data Into Roadmaps for Safer City Streets

“Cyberabad” 20 Sept 2026 “Indian Chronicle” “In a first-of-its-kind initiative, Cyberabad Police, in collaboration with the Society for Cyberabad Security Council (SCSC), organised a “Mobility Data Jam” at the Cyberabad Police Commissionerate, bringing nearly 100 participants together to tackle the city’s growing urban mobility challenges through open data.” “The event drew a diverse mix of techies, urban planners, students, journalists, government officials and civil society representatives, all working shoulder-to-shoulder to analyse traffic patterns and design practical solutions for the city.” “The Data Jam was held under the guidance of Dr. M. Ramesh, IPS, Commissioner of Police, Cyberabad, who emphasised the importance of using data-driven approaches to address urban challenges. Participants were given access to open mobility datasets and asked to identify pressing issues around traffic congestion, public transport accessibility, road safety and ward-level mobility gaps.” “Divided into teams, participants spent the day brainstorming, analysing data sets and building prototypes aimed at making Cyberabad’s roads safer, smarter and more sustainable. The collaborative format encouraged cross-disciplinary thinking, with techies pairing up with planners and students working alongside government representatives to translate raw data into actionable ideas.” “Organisers said the initiative reflected a growing emphasis on citizen participation and inter-departmental collaboration in urban governance.” “The Mobility Data Jam demonstrated how open data, when placed in the hands of engaged citizens and experts, can generate real, implementable solutions for city problems,” an SCSC spokesperson said.” “The event is being seen as part of a broader push by Cyberabad Police to involve the public in shaping policy and infrastructure decisions through technology and data-driven innovation. Organisers indicated similar collaborative exercises may be held in the future to build on the momentum generated by the Data Jam.

Talasani Srinivas Yadav Visits Ganesh Pandals Across Sanath Nagar

“Hyderabad Correspondent, September 20 (Indian Chronicle): Former minister and Sanath Nagar MLA Talasani Srinivas Yadav visited several Ganesh pandals in his constituency on Sunday, the seventh day of the Ganesh Navaratri celebrations, and offered prayers. Talasani began his visits in Bansilalpet, touring pandals at Muslim Waqf Board, Jai Prakash Nagar, Gandemma Temple, Vaddera Basti, Ramaswamy Compound, Barkat Basti, Gandhi Nagar, CC Nagar, Arun Jyoti Colony and Bholakpur. Travelling on a two-wheeler, he visited the idols and interacted with organisers and devotees before offering prayers. He later visited Ganesh pandals at Loda Apartment, Sundar Nagar Committee Hall and Uday Nagar Colony in Sanath Nagar Division. Organisers felicitated him after the prayers. BRS division presidents Venkateshan Raju and Kolan Bal Reddy, along with local party leaders and activists, accompanied him during the visits.

The controversy at Nagulavancha College remains unresolved 'Students furious with the inquiry officer'

“Khammam, September 20, Indian Chronicle.”“The issue involving the controversial English lecturer at the Government Junior College in Nagulavancha, Chintakani mandal, Khammam, has become sensational. Students are expressing strong anger, alleging that even the officials who came to conduct an inquiry into the lecturer are siding with him and that the college is not receiving proper justice. The students alleged that during examinations, the English lecturer facing allegations is attempting to write the exam with the help of legal advisers, obtaining answers over the phone, and that it is outrageous that officials themselves are directly assisting these irregularities.”“? No result despite appealing to the Collector.”“Students are expressing anguish that although they had already complained to the District Collector about the lecturer’s irregularities and the conduct of the officials, no action has been taken. As the problem has not been resolved, the students are preparing to soon bring the matter to the attention of Deputy CM and Madhira constituency public representative Bhatti Vikramarka.”“? Special field-level inquiry - Officer.”“As per the RJD’s orders, the special inquiry officer conducted a field-level inquiry at Nagulavancha College. Regarding the issue involving controversial lecturer Veeranjanyulu, details were collected from students, college staff, and the principal, and a complete report was prepared. The inquiry officer stated that there was initially some lack of clarity about allowing a legal adviser during the inquiry, and although it was thought that they should arrange one themselves according to RJD rules, since there were legal permissions, a statement accompanied by a legal adviser was accepted. ‘I will not side with anyone. Without giving scope merely to oral statements, I will submit to the higher authorities in the final report exactly the written information provided by the students and staff and the facts that came to light during the inquiry’, the inquiry officer clarified. Students are lamenting that their education is being severely affected because of this controversy. They demanded that the controversial lecturer be immediately removed from the college and that an experienced and good English lecturer be appointed in his place. They warned that if the officials do not respond immediately and provide justice, they will undertake a large-scale road blockade protest.

Kisan Sabha cultural performances in the streets of the Khammam - Arunodaya campaign gaining interesting momentum

“Khammam, September 20, Indian Chronicle. “As part of the campaign for the All India Kisan Sabha meetings to be held on the 28th, 29th, and 30th of this month, Arunodaya artists have been conducting an extensive campaign from street to street in Khammam for the past week. Regarding the massive public meeting to be held on the 28th of this month at the SR & BGNR College ground, 60 artists from various parts of Telangana have formed three teams and are conducting extensive campaigns on the problems faced by the farming community and the importance of the Rythu-Kooli Mahasabhas. In particular, the campaigns of the three cultural groups are creating a stir in the town. The Suryapet Udayagiri group belonging to the Arunodaya Cultural Federation, wearing gongallas, is presenting and performing the problems of farmers and agricultural labourers in the Telangana dialect, turning them into words and songs. They are attracting people through song and speech with the refrain 'Rannanna podam manam-Rythu Kooli Sabhalaku' (Come brother, let us go-to the farmers and workers meetings). They are giving interesting performances by listing the problems faced from sowing to raising the crop and selling the produce. Another Arunodaya Dappu artists group, led by Chiranjeevi of Kothagudem, is conducting an extensive campaign in the workers settlements of the town through collective Dappu dances. They are attracting people with the rhythmic steps of the Dappu troupe. The Arunodaya group from Mancherla district, led by Andemanga, is performing street plays from street to street on the problems faced by farmers and agricultural labourers. They have prepared a script vividly depicting the drought-like conditions currently prevailing in the state, such as the El Nino situation, borewells drying up as a result, crops drying up, lack of rainfall, rising prices, and are attracting people from street to street with street plays, known as invisible forms. In view of the importance of the national conference, as the time for the meetings draws closer, the Arunodaya Cultural Organisation is intensifying its campaign and is also planning strategies to involve cultural groups from other states in the campaign. In particular, artists are explaining in detail the farmers situation, which is like 'a forest when you try to sell and a burning ember when you try to buy', as well as the shortage of fertilizers and the methods through which the farming community is exploited. Arunodaya artists are conducting an extensive campaign not only in Khammam town but also in villages throughout Khammam district on the problems of farmers and agricultural labourers. The Arunodaya Cultural Organisation said that since these are the All India Farmers Mahasabhas, an extensive campaign is being conducted across Telangana. Along with these cultural groups, CPI ML New Democracy leaders, Rythu Kooli Sangham leaders, PDSU, POW women's organisations are participating in the campaign and appealing to people to make the meetings a success. At the AIKMS meetings, cultural groups of artists from various states are preparing to present art forms in Hindi, Punjabi, Bengali, Tamil, Kannada, Odia and other indigenous languages. The campaign for the Kisan Mahasabhas has gained momentum in Khammam town. The short films created by the Arunodaya Cultural Organisation on social media and the artists cultural performances are attracting attention. Hats off to the Arunodaya Cultural Organisation.

'Swachh Bharat' at the bus stand for creating awareness among the public.

“Khammam, September 20, Indian Chronicle. “BJP SC Morcha State President Kanti Kiran undertook a whirlwind tour of the erstwhile Khammam district on Sunday. During this tour, held under the chairmanship of District President Bandla Regan Pratap, he participated in several service and political programmes. He first paid floral tributes to the statue of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar in Khammam city. As part of the Seva Sankalpa Abhiyan, he conducted Swachh Bharat at the old bus stand and created awareness among the public about cleanliness. “Subsequently, an extensive meeting of key leaders and workers at the joint district level was held at the BJP district office. He provided guidance to the leaders on strengthening the party organisation and taking the welfare schemes of the central government to the people. Later, he handed over official appointment letters to the newly appointed office-bearers. Speaking at the meeting, District President Bandla Regan

Pratap said that the time had come to teach a lesson to the political forces that had used Dalits merely as a vote bank for decades. He stated that the BJP is the true platform for the self-respect of the oppressed sections. He made it clear that in the coming days, they would work with the aim of hoisting the BJP flag in the Madhira and Sathupalli constituencies, strengthen booth committees at the grassroots level and conduct extensive campaigns in Dalit localities. SC Morcha State General Secretary Dasi Nagaraju, Office Secretary Vishnu, Vice Presidents Boyala Venkat, State Spokesperson Swarnakhar, Khammam Parliament Convenor Sudarshan, Joint District Presidents Pratap, Rakesh Babu and several senior leaders participated in the programme.

Grand Ganesh Immersion Celebrations

““UPPAL, SEPTEMBER 20 (INDIAN CHRONICLE): Residents of Sanjana Malathi Complex in South Swaroop Nagar Colony, Uppal Division, organised the Ganesh immersion celebrations with great devotion and grandeur. The celebrations included special prayers and an Annadanam programme for devotees. “As part of the immersion festivities, a laddu auction was conducted, in which Dugyala Rajini and Venugopal Rao won the laddu for Rs. 1,55,001.
