

Complete Bhadrachalam temple works before Sri Rama Navami - Minister Ponguleti Srinivas Reddy

“Khammam, September 23, Indian Chronicle. “State Revenue, Housing, Information and Civil Relations Minister Ponguleti Srinivas Reddy directed officials to speed up the restoration and development works of the Sri Sitaramachandra Swamy Temple in Bhadrachalam so that they are completed within the stipulated deadline. He suggested that the works be carried out with advance planning keeping Sri Rama Navami and the Godavari Pushkaralu in mind, and that all departments work in coordination to provide better facilities to devotees. Minister Ponguleti Srinivas Reddy, who reached Bhadrachalam on Wednesday, first had darshan of Sri Sitaramachandra Swamy and performed special prayers. The temple priests accorded him a grand welcome and offered Vedic blessings. He later received theertha prasadam. Subsequently, along with Mahabubabad MP Porika Balaram Naik, Bhadrachalam MLA Tellam Venkata Rao, Aswaraopeta MLA Jare Adinarayana, District Collector Ankit and District SP Rohith Raj, the minister inspected the works being carried out on the temple premises at the field level. Beginning the inspection from the Dammakka idol area near the northern entrance, he sought details from officials regarding the progress of various construction works, their current stage, the time required for completion, human resources, construction materials and other aspects. Later, he held a review meeting with the concerned officials at the Bhadrachalam Sub-Collector's office. He reviewed the progress of works item-wise, including lifts, slabs, stonework, road development, availability of construction materials, mobilization of staff, additional funds and technical co-ordination. He suggested setting clear targets for each department and taking the works forward according to a weekly plan. “Later, Minister Ponguleti Srinivas Reddy said that the state government had sanctioned approximately Rs.275 crore for the temple restoration and development programmes. He said that the works had already gained momentum and that officials should work with a comprehensive plan to complete them with quality within the stipulated period. He directed officials to prepare reverse planning so that the major works are completed well before Sri Rama Navami, and to formulate an action plan to complete in advance the works being undertaken in the temple, Mada streets, inner prakaram, outer prakaram and other areas keeping the Godavari Pushkaralu in mind. The minister made it clear that the pace of lift construction works should be increased and measures should be taken to complete one lift every three days. He suggested increasing the required human resources and making alternative arrangements so that works do not stop due to staff shortages. He said that centering and other materials should be kept ready in advance so that works are not disrupted due to non-availability of construction materials, and that boom pumps and other machinery should be used wherever necessary to increase work efficiency. The minister suggested that arrangements for the next stage of slab works should be taken up in parallel without delay before one stage is completed. He said coordination should be ensured to reduce idle time between works and allow construction activities to continue uninterrupted. He said weekly targets should be set for every work, and if progress is not achieved according to those targets, the reasons should be identified immediately and resolved. The minister directed that special attention be paid to stonework. He said the required experts and staff should be specially allocated and the works carried out with daily targets. He suggested preparing a plan to complete the stonework in advance so that it does not remain pending in the final stage. He said that the experiences of major temple and festival-area construction works undertaken in the past should be taken into consideration and that work should proceed with advance coordination. The minister made it clear that along with quality, utmost importance should be given to adherence to scriptural principles in temple construction. He said the concerned officials should periodically inspect whether the works are being carried out in accordance with temple traditions and construction methods. He directed that the monitoring system be strengthened so that there is no scope for any deficiencies in construction quality. The minister said steps would be taken to expedite the sanction of a proposal of approximately Rs.25 crore for the development of roads around the temple. He suggested that the necessary infrastructure be developed in coordination so that devotees do not face difficulties in their movement. The minister stated that the government is taking measures with the objective of developing the Bhadrachalam temple in accordance with Chief Minister Revanth Reddy's vision and providing better facilities to devotees. He said public representatives, the District Collector and officials of the concerned departments are continuously monitoring the progress of the temple works. The minister directed officials to work in coordination while adhering to the stipulated deadlines and quality standards and complete the works on time. Bhadrachalam Sub-Collector Mrinal Shreshtha, Devasthanam EO Damodar Rao, engineering officials, architects, officials of the concerned departments, contractors and others participated in the programme.

Not Just Mandap Visits... A Meaningful Journey of Service Alongside the Youth

“Mahankali Dist intellectual cell convener Sriram venkatesh” Tarnaka, September 23 (INDIAN CHRONICLE): “On the occasion of the Ganesh festival celebrations in Tarnaka, every step Mahankali Dist intellectual cell convener Sriram venkatesh take from one Ganesh mandap to another has a purpose. This is not merely about taking photographs, attending events or being visible. The primary objective of this journey is to connect directly with the youth of Tarnaka, encourage their enthusiasm, extend my support to their service activities and remain closely connected with the people. “So far, I have had the opportunity to participate in 14 Anna Danam programmes and visit more than 22 Ganesh mandaps, besides extending financial assistance to youth wherever necessary and possible. “During every mandap visit, I have interacted with the local youth, listened to their ideas, witnessed their efforts and observed their spirit of service. “Every mandap has been a new classroom for me. “At one mandap, I witnessed the unity among the youth. “At another, I experienced the blessings and guidance of elders. “Elsewhere, I saw the enthusiasm to serve society. “At another place, I witnessed the spirit of people coming together and working for the welfare of the community. “Every form of Lord Ganesha carries a lesson. “Every young person’s service is an inspiration. “Every interaction with the people brings a responsibility. “I firmly believe that when the youth move forward, society progresses. Therefore, rather than merely witnessing their activities, I consider it my responsibility to extend whatever support I can to their initiatives. “What I receive from these programmes is not merely a photograph. It is a connection, a sense of belonging, trust and responsibility. “I sincerely acknowledge the support extended by Tarnaka Division President Sri Kante Karunakar, BJP leaders and activists, Ganesh mandap organisers, youth and local residents, whose cooperation has added strength to this journey of service.

Comprehensive Probe Sought into Harassment of Headmaster Prashanth

"Reduce Non-Teaching Workload in Primary Schools: PTA-TG"" Indian chronicle, Secunderabad, September 23: ""The Primary Teachers Association Telangana (PTA-TG) has expressed serious concern over the incident in which Prashanth, Headmaster of Chilvakoduru Government School, allegedly attempted suicide after writing a letter stating that he was unable to bear the pressure and harassment from officials during the Gollapalli School Complex meeting. The association demanded a comprehensive and impartial inquiry into the incident and action against officials found responsible, as per the rules. "The PTA-TG said the incident highlighted the increasing work pressure faced by teachers and headmasters in the primary education system. It stated that although many primary schools have only two teachers, they are required to handle several teaching, non-teaching, online and offline responsibilities in addition to classroom teaching. "Teachers are burdened with tasks such as maintaining online and offline attendance, managing the mid-day meal programme, maintaining MDM bills, FLN records, TLM and workbooks, distribution of uniforms, textbooks and notebooks, recording student marks, and updating UDISE details, the association said. "It further stated that teachers are also required to enter information daily through various apps, conduct parent meetings, attend school complex meetings and training programmes, participate in headmasters' meetings and Zoom meetings, and prepare various reports. "In addition, teachers and headmasters are facing increased pressure due to inspections and supervision by Mandal Education Officers, School Complex Headmasters, nodal officers, district officials, officials from the Collectorate, district- and state-level inspection teams and surprise inspection teams, the PTA-TG said. ""Teaching is the primary responsibility of teachers. However, at present, they are being required to spend more time on non-teaching duties than on teaching," the association said. "The association stated that Prashanth had reportedly mentioned in the letter written before his suicide attempt the names of officials whom he alleged had subjected him to pressure. Against this backdrop, the PTA-TG demanded a full-scale inquiry into the circumstances that led to the incident and strict action against the concerned officials if they are found to have subjected him to harassment. "PTA-TG president K. Mallikarjun Reddy, general secretary K. Sharada, additional general secretary M. Devadas and treasurer Ch. Shauri said the association would continue to work for the welfare of teachers, quality education for students and protection of government schools.

Crops are drying up due to unauthorized power cuts.. Farmers should be provided with 24-hour electricity and crop fields should be protected: CPM District Committee Member Dayyala Narsimha, Mandal Secretary Pallerla Anjaiah “(Yadadri Bhuvanagiri District Bureau.. Indian Chronicle.. September 23):- Crop fields are drying up due to unauthorized power cuts being imposed indiscriminately, and the government should respond immediately and supply 24-hour uninterrupted electricity to farmers and protect crop fields, CPM District Committee Member Dayyala Narsimha and Mandal Secretary Pallerla Anjaiah demanded from the government. On Wednesday, a meeting of the CPM Bhuvanagiri Mandal Committee was held at Sundarayya Bhavan in Bhuvanagiri. Speaking at the meeting, they expressed their anger that the promises made by the government were not at all in line with the developments taking place at the field level. They expressed their concern that the crops that farmers had invested in and cultivated, relying on underground water sources, were now drying up before their eyes due to power cuts due to lack of rains. They expressed their concern that due to insufficient electricity to run the motors, the crops that were in the harvesting stage were being damaged, which was putting the farmers at risk of facing severe financial losses. They criticized the rulers who claim to be a farmer welfare government for failing to prevent power cuts at the field level. They expressed their anger that farmers were having to work in the fields even at night, not knowing when the power would come or go, and that the food grains were facing severe difficulties due to the government's indifferent attitude. They demanded that all agricultural connections in Bhuvanagiri mandal should be supplied with 24-hour quality free electricity without any cuts, that the authorities should inspect the crop fields that have already dried up due to power shortage, provide adequate financial assistance to the farmers who have lost money, immediately resolve the low-voltage and technical problems and provide uninterrupted electricity to the farmers. They warned the government that if the government does not stop neglecting to support the farmers, they will unite the farmers and launch large-scale agitations under the auspices of the CPM. CPM mandal secretariat members Annampatla Krishna, Kondamadugu Nagamani, mandal committee members Mote Yellaiah, Kondapuram Yadagiri, Madyapuram Bal Narasimha and others participated in this meeting.
