Congress leaders have complained to the district SP to take strict action against the victims

"(Yadadri Bhuvanagiri District Bureau.. Indian Chronicle.. October 8):- Congress leaders have complained to Bhuvanagiri SP Akansh Yadav to take action against the channel called Dig TV Parody, which is going viral on social media by creating a video of Bhuvanagiri MP Chamala Kiran Kumar Reddy using voice morphing (changing his voice through AI) and making false statements about Chief Minister Revanth Reddy's family. Speaking on this occasion, Bhuvanagiri Municipal Chairperson Tangellapalli Srivani Ravi Kumar, PCC General Secretary Potnak Pramod Kumar and Mohammed Atahar said that it is shameful that the BRS party, unable to bear the support received by the people for MP Chamala Kiran Kumar Reddy, is creating fake channels and spreading false propaganda to tarnish his reputation. Similarly, he accused the Congress party leaders, especially MP Chamala Kiran Kumar Reddy, of spreading such false propaganda without being able to confront him in the public sphere. He said that this is a proof of the politics of KTR and BRS. Bhuvanagiri Municipal Chairperson Tangellapalli Srivani Ravikumar, PCC General Secretary Potnak Pramod Kumar, PCC Delegate Member Tangellapalli Ravikumar, Municipal Councilors Kukkaduvvu Somaiya, Bendelal Raj, Shafiq Ahmed, Co-option Member Pallerla Yadagiri, Seva Dal State General Secretary Pittala Balraj, Seva Dal former District President Samala Ravinder, Congress leaders Mohammed Atahar, Hirekar Srinu, Nakoti Ramu, Maccha Raju Yadav, Sarath, Nehal and others participated in this program.

Let Us Work Together to Eradicate Tuberculosis

Anant hijo kalidas"Nizamabad, October 08:Indian cronicle District Revenue Officer Geetha urged officials, public representatives, medical staff, voluntary organizations, and the general public to work collaboratively towards eradicating tuberculosis (TB). She called for the effective implementation of the 'TB Mukt Bharat Abhiyan' (TB-Free India Campaign) in the district—an initiative launched by the Central Government with the goal of making the country TB-free by 2030.""Speaking at a program held on Thursday at the Integrated District Offices Complex, she stated that 'Josh' teams should be formed as part of the campaign to conduct extensive awareness programs at the grassroots level. She advised forming health teams at the ward and mandal levels to raise public awareness about TB and to ensure that medical tests are conducted for individuals suspected of having the disease. Noting that TB is an infectious disease caused by bacteria and can spread to others through coughing and sneezing, she urged the public to remain vigilant. She advised people to consult a nearby doctor immediately if they experience symptoms such as evening fever, loss of appetite, or weight loss.""She also advised individuals with diabetes, hypertension, or low immunity, as well as smokers, to take special precautions.

Furthermore, she directed that details regarding medical camps in villages be communicated to the public in advance and that measures be taken to ensure suspected cases undergo testing. It was stated that tuberculosis can be completely cured if medications are taken regularly for the prescribed duration as advised by doctors."It was suggested that TB patients should not be ostracized but instead provided with moral support and necessary assistance. Officials at the mandal level, public representatives, and other staff were urged to each adopt a TB patient and regularly monitor their health status."It was emphasized that at the village level, Sarpanches, Panchayat officials, medical staff, ASHA workers, and ANMs should work in coordination to strive for the eradication of tuberculosis. Plans for an extensive awareness campaign regarding TB eradication were also announced."Zilla Parishad (ZP) CEO Saya Goud and officials from various departments participated in this program.

Black day in protest against police action against Rahul and Priyanka Gandhi, who are fighting against allegations of vote theft.. Protest:-Telangana State Government Whip, Aleru MLA Beerla Ayilaiah

""(Yadadri Bhuvanagiri District Bureau.. Indian Chronicle.. October 8):-Protests are continuing across the country demanding answers to the questions raised by the Congress Party and INDIA alliance leaders on issues such as revision of voter list, transparency in the election process and others. In this context, the Congress party has expressed strong objection to the incident in which the police detained Lok Sabha Opposition Leader Rahul Gandhi, Congress MP Priyanka Gandhi Vadra and several opposition MPs who participated in a protest program in Delhi. In protest against this incident, as per the call of the AICC, protest programs are being organized at the state, district and mandal levels across the country, observing October 8 as 'Black Day'. As part of this, a protest program was organized under the auspices of the Congress party in front of the statue of Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar in Yadagirigutta town of Yadadri Bhuvanagiri district. Telangana State Government Whip and Aleru MLA Birla Ailaiah participated in this program and expressed their protest along with Congress leaders and activists. Speaking on the occasion, the leaders said that everyone has the responsibility to ensure transparency in the election process, protect the rights of voters and protect democratic values. They demanded a clear answer to the allegations of 'vote theft' being raised by the opposition parties regarding the revision of the voter list and to dispel the doubts of the people about the electoral system. Congress leaders criticized that the Constitution has given every citizen the right to question and protest in a democracy, and that the police action against opposition leaders is against the spirit of democracy. They demanded that the election process should be completely transparent to further strengthen the people's faith in the electoral system. The leaders called on everyone to be a partner in the Congress Party's struggle for the protection of democracy and the rights of voters. Congress party leaders, public representatives, activists, youth leaders and others participated in the program in large numbers.

"""""""Hyderabad: """""""ZOYA, the luxury jewellery atelier from the Tata Group, unveils Her Again, a new High Jewellery collection that reinterprets one of India's most enduring cultural languages, its spices - through ZOYA's distinctive design lens. Drawing from the rituals and memories that connect us to our past, the collection explores the intimate journey of a woman returning to herself. ZOYA brings this essential Indian craft story to life through gemstone mastery and a distinctive design language, in an alchemy of expressive colour, unusual stones and intricate craftsmanship. ZOYA transforms a familiar part of India's cultural landscape into a distinctive expression of High Jewellery."The golden warmth of turmeric, the deep red of mace, cardamom green and the richness of saffron and rose become passages into memory. Colour awakens the many facets within her: curious, playful, spontaneous, expressive and deeply feminine. Rubellite, emerald, Madeira Citrine, Orissa rose garnet, golden heliodor and yellow sapphire create an unexpected, saturated palette that echoes the colours of spice and memory. Set in intricate compositions and shaped through thousands of hours of craftsmanship, these natural gemstones reimagining familiar cultural references into High Jewellery."The campaign finds a cultural voice in Internationally acclaimed sitarist and composer Anoushka Shankar. Having shaped a distinctive musical language across cultures and genres, she carries her Indian heritage into an evolving creative practice that is deeply personal and unmistakably her own."Speaking about the collection, Anoushka Shankar said, "What I love about ZOYA is the way it takes what we inherit and allows it to evolve through colour, gemstones and craft. I've always believed you can be deeply rooted in a culture and still speak to the world in a way that feels relevant, simply through the lens of your own experience. ZOYA captures that beautifully, creating pieces that feel timeless in spirit, yet fresh, inventive and entirely their

Meru International School Launches Student-Authored Anthology The Atlas of Becoming

’‘‘‘‘‘‘‘‘‘Hyderabad:‘‘‘‘‘‘‘Meru International School celebrated the launch of ‘The Atlas of Becoming’, an anthology featuring original stories written by students from Grades 9 to 12. The book cover was unveiled at the school’s Miyapur campus by the Head of School, marking the culmination of a six-month literary journey undertaken by the young authors. The launch brought together dignitaries, student authors, the cover artist and proud parents to celebrate the students’ achievement.‘‘‘The project began with an ambitious challenge for students—to create stories that could meet the standards of professional publication. Over six months, students submitted 67 original stories, of which 40 were selected by a professional editorial panel. The shortlisted works underwent multiple rounds of editing, along with checks for originality and authenticity, before taking their final form as a published anthology.‘‘‘Published in collaboration with TWAGAA Publishing, The Atlas of Becoming provides young writers with an opportunity to take their ideas beyond the classroom and experience the professional publishing process. The project introduced students to the discipline of developing, refining and presenting their work while responding to editorial feedback.‘‘‘The creative journey extended beyond writing, with the anthology’s cover designed by a Meru student, making the publication a student-led creative endeavour in both its literary and visual dimensions.‘‘‘The title The Atlas of Becoming reflects the evolving journeys of young people as they discover their voices, perspectives and possibilities. The anthology brings together 40 distinct student voices, each offering a unique interpretation of experiences and ideas, while collectively reflecting the imagination and diversity of thought within the Meru community.‘‘‘The launch celebrated not only the completed book but also the process behind it—a journey that demanded commitment, revision, originality and the confidence to put one’s work forward for professional consideration. For the participating students, the project provided meaningful exposure to what it takes to transform an idea into a published work.
