Dr Nalamasa Krishna Goud Enters Graduates' MLC Race as

Independent

"Hyderabad Correspondent, November 6 (Indian Chronicle): Dr Nalamasa Krishna Goud, a Telangana movement activist and senior advocate of the Telangana High Court, has been announced as an independent candidate for the Warangal-Khammam-

Nalgonda Graduates' MLC constituency, with support from various public organisations. The announcement was made by Dr Pasunuri Ravinder, winner of the 2015 Sahitya Akademi Yuva Puraskar, at a press conference held at Hyderabad Press Club on Friday, attended by BC organisation representatives, activists and intellectuals. Ravinder said Krishna Goud represented the voice of Bahujans and called for his election, arguing that the community lacked adequate representation in political institutions. Speakers at the meeting highlighted his work on behalf of disadvantaged sections and his legal and social activism. Addressing the gathering, Krishna Goud criticised political parties over unemployment, teachers' concerns and the problems faced by outsourcing employees. He said he would focus on graduates' issues and expressed confidence in winning the election through their support.

A Life Dedicated to the Masses: Former MLA Putta Madhuker's Exemplary Simplicity in Public Service.

Place: Manthani, Telangana, India"True public service transcends the boun indaries of protocol, luxury, and rigid schedules; it is defined by an unwavering commitment to the citizenry. Former Manthani MLA Sri Putta Madhuker epitomizes this ethos, continuously navigating a demanding political landscape where his constituents remain his foremost priority."Operating as an active opposition leader, his daily itinerary is a relentless continuum of public grievances, community outreach, and compassionate solidarity with bereaved or distressed families. Amidst this rigorous schedule, time is an invaluable commodity. Rather than interrupting his mission for conventional dining arrangements, he sustains his tireless endeavors with simple, home-cooked meals packed in tiffin boxes by his spouse, former Municipal Chairperson Smt. Putta Shailaja, who steadfastly stands alongside him in public service."A recent poignant moment captured this unwavering dedication: amidst an outdoor itinerary, Sri Madhuker partook in a modest meal beneath the shade of a tree, with Smt. Shailaja gently serving him. Eschewing all ostentation and vanity, he seamlessly transitioned back to addressing public concerns without missing a beat. This striking display of humility—prioritizing community welfare over personal comfort—underscores a profound leadership philosophy: when the populace is regarded as family, every waking moment is consecrated to their betterment.

ACB Flags 90 Suspicious UPI Transactions in Probe into Firecracker Licence Irregularities

""Hyderabad Correspondent, November 6 (Indian Chronicle): The Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) has detected around 90 suspicious UPI transactions in the mobile phones of staff at the LB Nagar Fire Station during a surprise inspection over alleged corruption and irregularities in the issuance of temporary firecracker shop licences. According to ACB Ranga Reddy Range officials, each of the suspected transactions ranged from Rs 1,000 to Rs 4,500, with all of them recorded during the preceding week. The inspection was conducted at the fire station located at Uppal Bhagayanth, Uppal, on November 6. The officials said nearly 397 applications had been received for temporary firecracker shop licences, of which 26 were still pending. While the prescribed online challan fee is Rs 500, allegations surfaced that applicants were being asked to pay amounts exceeding the official fee. The ACB is examining the reasons behind the pending applications. It has urged applicants facing demands for money beyond the prescribed fee or unexplained delays to lodge complaints through its toll-free number 1064."[

Meru Pravinya 2026 Honours 150+ Teams of Young Innovators Developing Solutions for Humanity

“““““Hyderabad“““““Meru International School successfully hosted Meru Pravinya 2026, its annual Entrepreneurship Ideathon under the school’s flagship M-CLAP (Meru Career, Leadership & Life Skills, Academic Enrichment Program) for students of Grades 5 to 12. Held at T-Hub, Raidurg, Hyderabad on 6th November, 2026, under the theme “Design for Humanity: Innovations for Survival in War”, the event brought together young innovators from the Miyapur and Tellapur campuses. Nearly 2,000 students contributed 375 unique ideas. A total of 66 teams, comprising 247 student innovators, participated in four days of semifinal rounds evaluated by industry professionals before advancing to the Grand Finale.““The finale was attended by Founder and Director Ms. Meghana Gorukanti Jupally, jury members Mr. Chiranjeevi Maddala, Co-founder and CEO of Learnia.ai, and Mr. Rajeev Kumar, Vice President of Sales and Expansion at Bower School of Entrepreneurship, along with parents, teachers and academic leaders.““Speaking at the Grand Finale, Ms. Meghana Gorukanti Jupally, Founder and Director of Meru International School, said, “When we conceptualised M-CLAP, our vision was to bring entrepreneurship, financial understanding and life skills together through meaningful learning experiences. We wanted students to identify real-world needs, make informed decisions, collaborate and take responsibility for their ideas. Seeing that purpose take shape through our students’ work at Meru Pravinya gives me immense satisfaction.“““Our theme, ‘Design for Humanity – Innovations for Survival in War’, encouraged students to think about how people can access food, water, shelter and essential assistance when their support systems are disrupted. From search-and-rescue robots to solutions for monitoring food-storage conditions during emergencies, students explored ideas rooted in real human needs. Entrepreneurship is about understanding the people who need a solution, whether they can afford it and how effectively it serves them. I encourage every Merupreneur to think boldly, test ideas honestly and keep the people they hope to help at the centre of every decision.”
